“ Momma my heart is broken. You have no idea how much I will miss you. you got married at 18 and had me at 19, you were so young to not only have a child but have a child with a handicap. You made sure I never felt different. You taught me to never say “I can’t”. I always tried everything I wanted to even if it seemed unreachable to some. You were so strong to be a single parent of a handicapped child. I went on to having three kids giving you, your grand babies. I got my strength from you because I was also a single mom. I thank you for helping me raise my kids and I know they thank you also. I’m not quite sure how to go on without you. You not only were my mom but my best friend too. The loss I feel is so painful. I can’t believe I will never see your face again or hear your voice or feel your touch. My life will never be the same. I love you so much. I am however glad you aren’t in anymore pain and you are with Oma and Granddaddy again. Please watch over me and the kids as we have a long road ahead us us living without you. Until we meet again momma RIP
