Douglas Julian Madison

AKA “Big Fluff”

(1977-2022)

Strong, Loyal, Generous, Kind, Loving, Lionhearted, Determined, and Devoted Douglas Julian Madison of Dale City, Virginia, departed this life on March 6, 2022. Born on July 06, 1977, in Woodbridge, Virginia, Doug was the son of Eileen “Judy” Madison and the late Stephen “Mike” Micheal Madison I. He graduated from Gar-Field Senior High School, Woodbridge, VA in 1995 and from ATI Career Institute in 1997 with a degree in Culinary Science.

One of Doug’s loves was cooking. His passion for it proved to be gainful. He worked at various restaurants in the area, where he was able to demonstrate his elaborate skills. But more than his love for cooking at restaurants, he took the most pleasure in preparing food for his friends and family. He was well known for his amazing skills on the grill, preparing enormous amounts of food for whoever would stop by. He was a lot like his dad in this way. They both relished in providing food for the good of fellowship.

Along with his passion for cooking, he was an avid watcher of movies, often times quoting obscure lines from them. He was also a fan of various types of music, but he had a deep love of Go-Go. He, even in his condition, would attend events just to let the rhythm take him away from his pain. In his youth, there wasn't a Go-Go that he wasn't there for. This is where he met many friends who shared his love for the music.

He was also an unconditional lover of the Washington Redskins. Not much to say about that except he was a lifelong fan who never waivered from his team. HTTR! I mean ... HTTC???

Doug's true loves, though, were his family. He was their constant protector in life. It's certain that he will be their guardian angel in Heaven. He was a devoted family man and loyal to his friends. Doug was known by many and loved by all.

Doug was preceded in death by his father, Stephen Micheal Madison I.

He is survived by his daughter, Gabriella Jordan; his mother Eileen "Judy" Madison; his sister, Kristi Madison; his brother, Stephen Madison II (LaTasha); his nieces, Iyanna Madison and Avery Madison; his uncle David "Three" Madison III (Joyce); his Cousin/Brother David "Dukes" Madison IV (Tera) and extended family members: Alease Tate, Didymus Tate, Greg Gibson, Kevin Collins, Vinson Garrett and Rodney Garrett. In addition, he leaves a host of close family and friends to cherish his memory.

“ Baby boy from another mother. I am going to miss looking out the window and seeing you on the grill.

I can't help but laugh when I think back on your younger days, and I look out the window and see you climbing over the fence in pampers and sometimes shoes but most of the time one shoe. I think you left a shoe at every house in the neighborhood. Out of the five kids growing up together (Kristi, Stevie, Vinson and Rodney Garrett) you were the baby. You will be missed and will forever be my baby boy from another mother.

“"Dougie" you were definitely one of a kind I remember when I first met you when I moved from New York to Virginia you were so funny and so protecting we just developed a bond automatically we were really really close like brother and sister. I could always expect you to answer when I was going through something real late at night and no one would listen to me and you would always seem to make me laugh and remind me of how beautiful I was and not to care what anyone thought or would anyone say you would always say people just want something to talk about. You unselfishly gave your time your heart and your effort to show people how much they meant to you. I hadn't heard from you in a minute actually the day before you went to the hospital was the last time we spoke and I sent you a text message after a while because I hadn't heard from you being that I moved from Virginia to another state five years ago we still kept in touch when you didn't respond I went to Messenger to send you a message and my heart sunk when I saw all the posts on your page. I will miss you big bro words can't express how I feel the tears that are dropping embody all of the laughs in all of the cries that we shared I know now that you are in the arms of your father who you always spoke about and you loved so very much and continue to watch over your mother your daughter your sister your brother and all of your friends you never really considered us friends we were all family I love you Doug may your soul rest gently and I know that you're cooking a good meal for the Angels your bed is now ready so relax be easy no more pain love you 💜💜💜💜💜

“ Growing up the closest things I had to younger siblings were Kristi, Dougie and Stevie. All the 4th of July cookouts, the family Delaware Beach trips, the card games, the many haircuts, conquering the creek, sewer, street football - Bull Taco & suicide hill - we did it all! You name it, we shared it all! I am glad you are now safe and free of harm back with your dad cooking it up, that was definitely your thing!

Also, I know as soon as you got there you were probably walking around looking for Chuck & Lil Benny to "put it in the pocket" for the whole Go-Go family and squad! Salute baby brother and a peaceful journey!

We fondly remember Dougie as a vivacious youth and watching him become a man. His personality could always light a room and spread joy! As he teased, many were able to forget their personal situations and laugh at his impromptu comedy sessions. Having touched many lives, we rejoice in knowing that you are truly healed now and able to claim your promise of blooming in the Master's bouquet. Your family, friends, and colleagues will carry on the example you left of striving to always spread peace and joy. Rest easily.

How do I tell the first smile I met at GF see you later. Dougie was always that little brother that also became THE protector!! I will miss our talks or when you say pray for me. It made me smile to know that you had faith even when times seemed a little rough You had such a love for family and friends. So many memories of going to school piled up in Dym's car. No mater what the crew 8 deep lapped it to every event as long as we where together. Our family chat will be missing your funny comments an remarks. Lol.. Always my little brother I Love you no matter how far. Your GF sister and friend Nessie....
