“ I met Dave at our mutual preferred tavern. It was always a pleasure to converse with him. I could not be or stay in bad mood whenever I got to see him. He had that effect and he will be missed. My condolences to Mary and Dave's family.

“ I met David back in 1979 while visiting a mutual friend Bob Simcox. David was giving him guitar lessons. We started talking and David said his mom was always trying to get him to take friends to her church. Bob and I went the next day, and that was when I met the young lady who would become my wife. So, if it hadn't been for David listening to his mother, I may never had married Cindy Steidel and have 4 children, 3 grandchildren (so far), and over 40 years and counting with my lovely bride. I will always remember David as a good musician, and friend. Fairwell David.
