“ I worked with Buck for many many years and I loved every minute of it. I have a lot of wonderful memories working with him. I took my first plane ride with Buck. I was super nervous - I was in my mid 20s and Buck teased me about someone coming out on the run way to turn the propeller. Then he laughed a great deal when my reaction was “really”. He made me laugh a lot until we were in the air to calm my nerves. I will also remember him at lunches - Buck was always 10 minutes early, seated with an iced tea. It got to the point that we’d tell Buck to arrive at a different time since everyone was always late:). He also had his own table at Clydes. They knew him so well. He’s also is the father of my one my closest and best friends and grandfather to one of my kids closest friends. We smoked a lot of cigarettes together back in the day and I loved hearing all the wonderful stores he and his co-workers (Billy and Lloyd) shared about their time in the military and just growing up in the time they did. I learned a lot from them and I do often miss that team and working together. My condolences to Sheila, Carey and Deanna and the entire family. Buck spoke of you all so much that I felt like I always knew you.

I remember one business trip Buck, Billy and I made to Colorado. I left the two of them in Colorado Springs while I visited my sister and Mother in southern Colorado. they went all over the area looking at the scenery. While checking the area Buck came across an area the was covered with rocks. He collected quite a few for his daughter. On his return trip home he changed planes in Dallas. As his bag was going through the check-in process the attendant asked "what do you have in there, rocks?" Buck, without any expression simply replied "Yes". I cherish every memory we made over the years, specially the ones when he was bragging about his cats. He is and will be missed for his friendship, kindness and sense of humor. Rest In Peace Good Buddy..
